

ABSTRACT

A personal care or cosmetic article is provided which includes a substrate within which is disposed at least one liquid containing breakable capsule. The article further includes a cosmetic composition which is wetted by liquid within the capsule upon breaking of the capsule. Additional capsules can be provided for wetting the cosmetic composition or, alternatively, one or more capsules can be provided with the same article to wet additional cosmetic compositions, so that multiple functions are performed by the same article.